Storage and spill containment essential products catalogue

Spill Containment

Enva offer a wide range of storage solutions to help you store your hazardous waste in a safe and compliant manner.

Our storage solutions meet all the current regulatory requirements for oil storage, reducing the risk of pollution from your site to land, surface waters or groundwater as a result of the storage, maintenance and handling of drums and IBC's.

Ecospill Sustainable Absorbents

Ecospill are leaders in the supply and manufacture of sustainable absorbents. Manufactured from natural fibres which have been refined and upgraded, our range of sustainable absorbents often outperform more traditional meltblown products.

This equates to a significant reduction of up to 60% in its carbon footprint, without compromising on performance. Fast acting, highly absorbent and do not leach when saturated, Ecospill products offer excellent tensile strength due to the addition of a fine fibre coverstock.

Oil Only Roll

- Cover stock for increased durability and reduced linting
- Bonded and perforated for improved strength and convenience
- Highly absorbent Oil based fluids from land or water.

Spill Kits

Spillages need to be contained and cleaned up as quickly and safely as possible we have the equipment to allow you to do just that. Our spill kits will provide you with what you need to contain leaks and spills. Our kits contain a range of absorbents products, the different types of absorbent materials include pads, rolls, socks, drum covers and cushions. Spill kits should be kept at easy access anywhere where significant quantities of hazardous liquids are used within customers premises. In emergency situations it is vital to be able to react quickly.

These spill kits come in different sizes so they can be stored in various locations around a site meaning that when the need arises, you will never be too far from the correct equipment to contain a spill.

Covered spill pallets

Secondary Containment

Secondary containment such as sump pallets and trays are an integral part of drum storage. By holding accidental leaks and spills they prevent harmful liquids from coming into contact with surfaces, other chemicals and members of your workforce. Rather than spreading, substances are caught and secured beneath the drum until they can be safely cleaned away. This is not only environmentally friendly but also cost-effective and limits the waste created by a leaking drum.
